THOSE WERE THE DAYS FOR ED CAIN

There are few who can remember Sacramento's good old days.

When the Capitol Park palm trees weren't much taller than a lamp-post. Or when tiny minnows came out the kitchen tap.

Or when Brothers' Boys took instruction in a two-story structure on 12th and K Streets. But as one of the oldest living graduates of Christian Brothers High School, Edward Cain ('18) remembers all this and more.

He remembers studying mathematics, chemistry, physics, civics, and literature in the "academic" curriculum. (The school also taught courses in a three-year "commercial" curriculum.)

"The Brothers were a dedicated group, very thorough in their instruction," Cain says.

The students at Christian Brothers, however, found time for levity, Cain recalls. Leland Hill, a classmate and "a real wag," one day disguised a handful of bullets in wads of paper that he left on the floor. Finding the room amiss, Brother Euphrasius told Hill to put the paper in the classroom stove. Hill complied. "In three or four minutes, you'd thought it was the Battle of Verdun," Cain laughs.

Cain started at the Brothers school in 1912, the year his father moved the family from Oakland to start his own glass business. Young Ed worked in the business throughout his life. He was also a dedicated altar boy, serving mass for Bishop Grace in the Cathedral every morning for years.

Upon graduation from CBS in 1918, Cain entered Officers Training School, was honorably discharged at the end of World War I, and attended University of California at Berkeley. He returned to the family business in 1922 and later graduated with a Bachelor of Laws Degree from McGeorge College of Law in 1929.

He was one of the original charter members of the 20-30 Club, which was founded in Sacramento in 1922. He started the chapter's monthly magazine called the Twenty-Thirtian and for years wrote editorials for the publication that was circulated to over 8,000 at the height of its popularity.

Cain played a central role in Sacramento's recent history. He was elected to the group that wrote the present Sacramento County Charter, and he successfully lobbied for its adoption. As a result, he was persuaded to go into local politics.

In 1940 he was elected to the

CARISSMI IN SECOND TERM AS REGENT PRESIDENT

Ron Carissmi, Class of '51

Christian Brothers is fortunate to have a dedicated group of men and women sharing their special talents and expertise on the Board of Regents.

One such talented person is Ron Carissmi, a leading Sacramento architect who served on the first Board of Regents ten years ago and is currently in his second term as Board President.

A native of Sacramento, Ron shares a long history with both the Sacramento community and CBS. He began his association with CBS in 1947 as an entering freshman, after graduating from Sacred Heart Elementary School. Four years later he was elected student body president. Upon graduation he was the recipient of the Bank of America Award in Fine Arts.

Ron attended St. Mary's College and later the University of Notre Dame where he graduated Cum Laude in Architecture and received two gold medals in architectural design.

After a tour of duty with the U.S. Navy's Mobile Construction Battalion in the Pacific, he returned to Sacramento armed with architectural knowledge, and joined the architectural firm of Barovetto & Thomas. There he steadily climbed the rungs from designer to associate to President of what is now known as Carissmi Rohrer and Harper.

A KEY TO CBS HUMANITIES? IT HAS TO BE ENGLISH

Tom English brings nine years of experience and national exposure to his history classes

Ask a student at Christian Brothers about Mr. English and his history class, and you are likely to get a strange glance, turning to a puzzled look, and—depending on whether or not the student did his homework the previous night—evolving into a knowing sneer. But the response among students is generally uniform—he's really hard but he's really interesting.

Tom English has been teaching at CBS for nine years, and he's developed a reputation among his students and colleagues that is both impressive and well-earned. With a unique and scholarly background, English has brought his learning and insight to the Humanities department, and left an imprint that is quickly discernible.

English has used his learning and sharp wit in a variety of courses at CBS, including history, public speaking, English, and the only philosophy course offered at CBS. He has also served as department coordinator for the Humanities department.

After attending Bakersfield Community College, English graduated from U.C. Davis in 1971 with a B.A. in history, and then moved on to CSUS, where he earned a M.A. in Ancient History.

In addition to his graduate work, English has spent two summers expanding his humanities background by attending nation-wide seminars. In 1985 he attended the National Endowment for the Humanities Seminar Fellowship at Harvard, and in 1988 he was invited again to the national seminars, this time at Notre Dame.

English took part in seminars on pre-Socratic philosophy, Plato, and Aristotle.

English has also taught at Sacramento City College for 15 years as an evening instructor in humanities and philosophy.

He has two daughters in college, and he and his wife, Priscilla, are adopting a 4-year old boy.

English came to CBS because there was nothing available in the public schools, and, like many who first arrive on campus, was immediately impressed with the environment and attitude of the students.

"Christian Brothers has a tradition, a sense of community and belonging," English said. "That's one of the things students take with them when they leave this place. It makes the experience more personal, which comes from the La-Sallian philosophy."

English has taken an active role in the CBS community, having been involved with numerous projects and activities. Currently, English is the moderator of the California Scholarship Federation (CSF) and the National Honor Society. CSF has two big fund-raisers a year—the annual PAL Christmas basketball tournament and selling used books—and helps provide the students with what English considers one of the strengths of a Christian Brothers education—"more of a sense of who they are."

Which is what English thinks makes CBS unique. "There is more concern for students here, more support for the average student to succeed," English said. "The teachers are more interested in their welfare. The programs are more innovative than in public schools."

Many of the buildings Ron has designed have won awards from the American Institute of Architecture. Notable Sacramento buildings, designed by Ron and his firm include the Sacramento History Center, the Point West Building, renovation of the Senator Hotel, Presentation and St. Lawrence's Catholic Churches, and his own office, the Christofer Oaks Building.

Ron and his wife, Patricia have been constant and loyal supporters of CBS. In addition to his role with the Regents, Ron is a past president of P.S.O. Their eldest son, Kevin, a graduate of CBS, is currently attending Fresno State University on a golf scholarship. Their daughter Amy attends St. Francis High School while their youngest son Steven attends Presentation Elementary School.

Ron's leadership on the Board of Regents has earned him high praise and honor by his fellow board members, CBS faculty, and alumni.

8th District Assembly where he served one term in the State Legislature, representing the "north" half of the City of Sacramento. In that short time, he initiated bills that led to the construction of the overpass across the American River (now the Business 80 freeway); the development of Capitol Mall; and the establishment of Sacramento State College.

Later, he was appointed by Governor Earl Warren to the State Unemployment Insurance Appeals Board, the highest authority for settling labor and management disputes in the unemployment insurance field. He heard over 20,000 cases in his term.

In 1955, he returned to his glass company, which he sold in August, 1962 to pursue his hobby of writing magazine articles.

During a visit to New York in 1964, a friend invited him to see the New York Stock Exchange. Cain recalled a similar visit in September, 1929, "when the stock market was at its peak just before the Crash," he said, referring to the famous downturn of the stock market.

On the floor of the Exchange, Cain's friend demonstrated such a knack for selling and buying stocks that Cain was persuaded to stay on and learn the business. He has been a stockbroker ever since.

Today he is a financial consultant at Shearson Lehman Hutton in the Campus Commons Financial Center. Cain is reported to be the oldest stockbroker in Sacramento. At 89, he doesn't see any reason to quit. Louise, his wife of 68 years, agrees.

Edward Cain admits that he owes his prosperous and successful life to the following philosophy: "Dear Lord, let me disagree without

TRAGEDY SHOCKS CBS CAMPUS

Students and faculty take steps to remember David Castillo

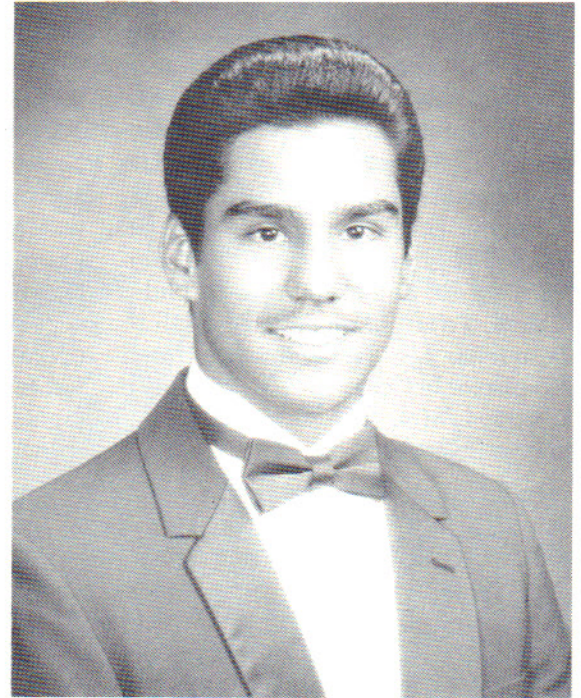

The following article is taken from a speech given by CBS Student Body President Michael Doctolero at the memorial service for senior David Castillo, who was fatally injured while jogging on the night of February 15.

I'd like to take this opportunity to say a few words on behalf of the student body of Christian Brothers. I think it was Anthony Molina, David's best friend, who said that he finally realized what Christian Brothers was all about because of the people who went to the hospital whom he really didn't know, and the brothers and teachers who were there for the Castillo family. This is just one example of how David had an impact on the Christian Brothers community. David was a powerful person in a sense that he affected classmates, friends, the school, and the outside world. So what, as a school, are we going to do in memory of him?

First, Christian Brothers is planting a memorial tree. The tree is a very powerful symbol in that it grows the longest and lives the longest. We aren't here physically forever, and neither is a tree, but this tree would be something physical that represents a longer life than David had. David's physical life was short, but the life he has now is eternal.

Secondly, the school is having a plaque made which will be placed by this tree. Everyone has a dream that they will leave a mark—the dream that they will be remembered for something good that they have done. And although David did not live long enough to accomplish as much as he would have liked, he still deserves to be remembered just because of who he was. This plaque and tree will remain a part of this school forever as a name, mark, and permanent fixture. If the school was to move, the plaque and tree would move as well because these symbols are now an important part of Christian Brothers.

Finally, a scholarship fund is being named after David Phillip Castillo for incoming freshmen. David had a choice whether or not to return to Christian Brothers as a senior. He chose to return because he thought that Christian Brothers was a worthwhile place to be a student. This scholarship represents the fact that we agree with David and his ideals. If there is a student who has the same ideas about a C.B. education but not enough money, this gives him the opportunity to attend this school.

So David we have these three things for you. The tree for a longer physical life, the plaque so you can leave your mark, and the scholarship because of your high regard for a Christian Brothers education. With these things we will always remem-

CBS ANTICIPATES HIGH MARKS IN WASC VISITATION

From March 5th through the 8th, as the culmination of its accreditation self-evaluation process, Christian Brothers was visited by a team of educators representing the Western Association of Schools and Colleges. The five-member team was chaired by Sr. Catherine Sedgeman, Principal of St. Francis High in Sacramento. Accompanying Sr. Catherine were Br. Philip Clarke, Principal of La Salle High in Pasadena; Mr. Jack Howard, Head Counselor of Cordova High in Rancho Cordova; Mrs. Mae Carol Iriart, Resource Specialist from Patterson High in Patterson; and Ms. Barbara Thomas, Principal of McLane High in Fresno.

In preparation for the visitation, Christian Brothers produced a 300-page self-study, consisting of over 22 individual reports written by departments and staff. This self-study was reviewed by the Visiting Team. During their visit, the team met with groups to discuss their reports; observed classes, programs, and operations; conducted interviews; and wrote a report of their own, commending superior performance and recommending actions or strategies for improvement. Finally, the Visiting Team made a recommendation to the Western Association of Schools and Colleges regarding the school's continued accreditation.

Christian Brothers last underwent accreditation review in 1983, at which time it was awarded the full, six-year term of accreditation.

The next issue of The Connection will include news about the findings of the self-study and about future plans at Christian Brothers.

STUDENTS AND FACULTY RALLY FOR LASALLE CLUB RAFFLE SALE

For three weeks Christian Brothers students and faculty took on an ambitious challenge in the annual La Salle Club Raffle ticket sales. This year's efforts brought in some three to four thousand dollars more than the previous campaign, and earned the students a day off and four minimum days with modified dress. The school brought in a total of $17,042, which was 242 percent of the quota set by this year's moderator, Kevin McGovern.

The money raised was of great importance for athletics at CBS. Funds brought in from ticket sales help defray some of the costs for equipment, supplies, and uniforms for CBS's athletic teams.

The junior class finished on top of the ticket sale competition, netting 274 percent of its quota. The freshmen were not far behind at 244 percent, the sophomores sold 192 percent of its goal, and the seniors 142 percent.

The top seller in the school was social studies teacher Bill Cerney, who sold 105 books. The top student seller was junior John Barone, who sold 57 books. Todd Armstrong was a close second with 56 books, while Kevin Riley peddled 27 books, and Josh Hutchens placed fourth overall with 21 books.

Each book contained 12 tickets. With each ticket, the holder had a chance to win vacation trips to Hawaii, Lake Tahoe, Carmel, and Las Vegas, as well as clothing and cash prizes.

In the class competition, Mr. Cerney's class brought in the most money, totaling $2,159, while Greg Murphy's class made a rush at the end, finishing with $1,858 in total sales.

The raffle ticket drive culminated on Feb. 12 with a Rigatoni dinner at CBS. Some 350 people attended the dinner and drawing, far more than in previous years.

All faculty and students should be commended for the effort put forth this year, it was an outstanding drive.

In only its second year of competition, the Christian Brothers Moot Court team made a strong showing in the city-wide contest held in January and February.

Team members Mark de Vere White, Mike Doctolero, David Rose, Bob Benefiel, and Brian Scott defeated the Moot Court team from Mira Loma in January. However, in their next two contests at the County Courthouse on Feb. 4, they lost close battles to the teams from Jesuit and Del Campo.

This year's Moot Court cases concerned issues of First Amendment rights, the right to a fair trial, the right to privacy, and the right of the state to protect its members.

Co-moderators Virginia McConnell and Mary Jenkins feel that the Moot Court program at CBS will grow even stronger in the future. Their motto? "Wait 'til next year!"

ANYTHING GOES IN THIS YEAR'S SPRING MUSICAL

Alumni, alumnae of the past will fondly recall the great dramatic tradition of the minstrel shows Flower Drum Song, Bye, Bye Birdie, and The Hobbit. Christian Brothers has recently continued this tradition with the productions of 1776, Damn Yankees, and last year's Arsenic and Old Lace. This year the tradition continues with the toe-tapping musical comedy, Anything Goes.

Anything Goes is gift-wrapped in the magical music of Cole Porter. The story line is a simple love story of mistaken identities and misunderstood love. The cast of characters, and characters they are, include a famed evangelist turned night club owner, a pleasant lame-brained English baronet, the number "thirteen" most wanted criminal on the F.B.I. list and Moonface's little moll.

This year's cast consists of: Dana Miller (from Loretto) as Reno Sweeny, Chris McGarry as Bill, Patricia Anne Poletti (St. Francis) as Hope, Mark Montemayor as Moonface, Amy Carissimi (St. Francis) as Bonnie, Brian Scott as Sir Evelyn, and Beverly Kearney as Mrs. Harcourt.

The gals of the cast are: Tricia Friedman (St. Francis), Diane Koeberlien (St. Francis), Julie Lange (Bishop Manogue), Kristen Cook (St. Francis), and Angelina Atkins (Loretto); the sailors of the cast are: Shane Wright, Eddie Hoopman, Damian Costa, Dave Moore, Sean Wattles, Brendan Inman, Jarett Mason, Jimmy Williams, Michael Mechil, Marc Onishi, and Scott Onishi.

The play will run Wed., April 19 through Sat., April 22. The Saturday performance will be a dinner theater show. The play begins at 8 p.m. in the Christian Brothers Speech-Arts room. Tickets are $5, the dinner show $15.

Ms. Tina Reeves is the vocal coach and provides the piano accompaniment. Mrs. Dorothy Delgado is the choreographer. Brother Malachy directs the show and Mr. Michael Hebda is the producer.

CBS OFFERS A VARIETY OF COURSES FOR THE SUMMER

With the end of the school year rapidly approaching, the thoughts of young men turn to a wide variety of things, among them summer school. This year Christian Brothers will hold two sessions of summer school: the high school summer school beginning on June 19 and running until July 21, and the pre-high school classes beginning on June 20 and finishing on July 21.

Those interested in attending should pre-register by May 20.

The course offerings for the high school summer school range from health education to math, to enrichment classes where students can take courses such as art, typing, and religion tutorials. There also will be courses offered in English, social studies, language, and science.

CBS also offers an intensive 10-unit course that covers a year's material. Tentatively scheduled are studio art, geometry, and chemistry.

The pre-high school summer educational program covers language arts, reading, and math to serve as a transition to and preparation for high school. Pre-high school courses are non-credited because they are taken before a student has actually entered high school.

NAMES, FACES, AND ACHIEVEMENTS AT CBS

Two Christian Brothers seniors, Oscar Madrigal and Robert Shepard, have recently been notified of honors they have received for college. Madrigal, a 4.0 student, has been accepted at both M.I.T. and Harvard through their early admissions programs. Madrigal, the son of Juan and Carmen of St. Joseph's parish in North Sacramento, plans to study mechanical engineering. Madrigal, undecided about where he will attend, must still consider opportunities offered by Princeton and Stanford.

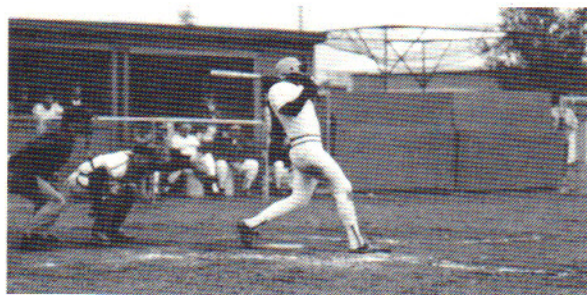

Shepard has received a Type Two Air Force R.O.T.C. scholarship for his college education. The son of Robert E. Shepard and Judith M. Carlson, Shepard plans to study electrical engineering at either the Citadel or U.C. Davis. A Type Two Air Force scholarship entitles the recipient to $7,500 per year, for four years, and $100 per month for expenses...

CBS junior Thorston Thorpe has been awarded a $300 prize for creating a radio advertisement in a P. G. & E. and SMUD sponsored competition on energy conservation. Thorpe recently received the award at a banquet to host contest winners. Thorston, the son of Charles and Edna Thorpe, developed the theme of "conserving energy in the home." The advertisement is being aired on KGNR, beginning early in February...

Oscar Madrigal

Seniors Bo Dodson and Andy Fox have been listed among the top thirty prospects in America in the February issue of Baseball America. Dodson, a left-handed, power-hitting first baseman, was rated the number eight high school player in America; Fox, a hard-hitting third baseman, was number 15. Last year Dodson and Fox gained notoriety by excelling for a CBS team that won the Sac-Joaquin Section title. Dodson hit .452 while Fox batted .300.

Bo Dodson takes a cut at the plate

Dodson, the son of Stan and Rita Dodson, hopes to sign a professional contract, but he is also considering baseball scholarships at Arizona State, Fresno State, and San Diego State. Fox, the son of Jim and Patti Fox, plans to attend Loyola Marymount on a baseball scholarship.

JOURNAL RECOGNIZED NATIONALLY

The Spring 1988 edition of at wit's end, Christian Brothers' literary-art journal, was recognized in a national competition sponsored by the National Council of teachers of English.

The Program to Recognize Excellence in Student Literary Magazines ranked CBS' journal "above average" for its design and layout, its sound writing in various genres, and for the editorial, production, and business aspects of producing the journal.

The literary-art journal, which is professionally published each spring, showcases the creative writings and art works of CBS students and teachers.

The editorial staff for the 1989 edition includes: Senior editors Bob Benefiel, Frank Pisi, and Chris Nicholson; Junior editors Christian de Leon-Horton, John Barone, and Marc Brandon; Sophomore editors Marco Villalobos and Justin de Leon-Horton; and Freshman editors Brendan Inman and Jarrett Mason.

Faculty editor is Ms. Ginny McConnell. The faculty moderators are Brother Kevin Michael and Mr. Michael Hebda.

SPEAK UP FOR CBS BUREAU

Christian Brothers High School is organizing a speaker's bureau to provide interested groups in the Sacramento area a list of people who are associated with the school and who are willing to speak about a variety of topics to groups in the area. The list will be made up of volunteers from CBS staff and faculty, alumni, and regents.

If you are willing to speak to an interested group, or would like some more information, please contact Dave Griffith at the school. After a brochure of the information is published and distributed, you will be contacted when a request is made.

On April 30, March of Dimes, an organization devoted to researching and preventing birth defects, will hold its annual Walk America. Associated Students is organizing teams to participate. There are nine team captains. Each team captain has three team leaders who are each responsible to get 10 other people. CBS' goal is to raise $8,000. If you are interested in participating in Walk America, please contact Jon Kaempfer at 452-2876, ext. 23.

DEVELOPMENT NEWS

CBS ENDOWMENT AIDS SCHOLARS

The Endowed Scholarship Fund was established in 1978 for the purpose of providing assistance to those students who, while fully capable of benefiting from a Christian Brothers education, are not able to afford the full tuition rate.

Now in its eleventh year, the Endowed Scholarship Fund principal totals over $500,000. This principal is never liquidated. Rather, these funds are invested and the interest generated is used to provide scholarships.

Since its inception, the Endowed Scholarship Fund has been built through scholarships established in memory or recognition of certain individuals, businesses, or organizations. While it is suggested that an initial pledge of $10,000 be made in order to establish the scholarship, donations of other amounts have been received. Contributions to the various scholarships by friends and relatives of the donor are welcome.

The Development Committee of the Board of Regents, through its Endowment Committee, is currently making plans for a concerted 1989 endowment campaign in order to increase the current fund.

Anyone interested in establishing an endowed scholarship is encouraged to contact the school's Director of Development, Kevin Matheny, at 452-0482.

We are in the process of updating the mailing list for The Connection, and we need the assistance of all alumni, families, and friends of Christian Brothers. If you would like to change an address, add an additional address, or if you have been receiving more copies of the magazine than necessary at your house, then please notify the Development Office by calling 452-0482.

AUCTION, RAFFLE HIGHLIGHT THE 8TH ANNUAL CB2000 SPECTACULAR

This year the 8th Annual CB2000 promises to be a very exciting event. It will be held on Sunday, May 7, from 2:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. in the courtyard at Christian Brothers High School.

A 1989 BMW 325i four door sedan will be raffled off as first prize, and $1,000 in cash will be awarded as second, third, fourth, and fifth place prizes. New this year will be an auction, the inclusion of which is hoped to be a successful one so that it may be an annual CB2000 event.

The auction will consist of both oral and silent items. Some of the exciting items you will be bidding on will include dinners at Sacramento's finest restaurants, gift certificates to your favorite stores, and tickets to sporting events. How about an autographed baseball or football? Perhaps you would like to get twenty of your friends together for a personalized tour of the Christian Brothers winery in Napa, complete with dining and transportation. A cruise down the river might be fun, or perhaps a chance to bid on one of the vacation homes offered.

There will be many surprises waiting for you, including a mystery treasure chest. Come and enjoy the delicious hot and cold hors d'oeuvres, open bar, and live music. Plan on attending this special CB2000 event.

Remember, the more successful the fundraiser, the more tuition costs can be kept down and more young men can be provided with a quality education.

If you have any questions or would like to make a donation to the auction, please contact Jean Lahey, Director of Special Events, at CBS (452-0482).

A NEW NAME AND NEW GOALS FOR CBS' GALA EVENT

With a proud and hopeful eye toward the future, the organizers of Christian Brothers CB2000 have planned the gala event of the year. Once called the CB200, reflecting the original 200 participants, the event has been recharacterized as the CB2000 by the organizers to express their optimism to increase ticket sales and participation and to look forward toward the year 2000 with great expectations.

This year's event will take place on the afternoon and evening of Sunday, May 7 at Christian Brothers High School. The event will include a catered cocktail party, featuring an open bar and delectable hors d'oeuvres; a silent auction where guests will be invited to tour tables of irresistible items and make silent bids to purchase those items most coveted; an "oral" or normal auction where guests will pit their bidding skills against one another to the crooning calls of a professional auctioneer; and, finally, at the conclusion of the evening, a drawing to give away a new BMW 325i.

Don't miss out on this incredible event!

Tickets are $100 per person, and may be purchased simply by contacting the CBS Development Office. Special invitations will also be arriving at the addresses of past participants.

Don't miss your last big chance of '89 to get back on campus, give a little something back to your alma mater and, maybe—just maybe—drive away in a brand new BMW automobile.

ARMSTRONG HIGHLIGHTS

Vienna Cornacchioli Golsong
Class of '61

Hello to all, I hope each of you had a happy and blessed Easter and a relaxing spring break. I am very excited about The Connection, we will be getting the issues to you on a regular basis, and there are some interesting things being planned.

They say you can meet people no matter where you go (if you like to talk like I do)! My husband and I attended a crab feed as the guests of William Schadler ('68) and his wife, Elaine. The ironic part of this whole evening was that Bill helped me with writing a lot of this column.

I'll start with Bill. He is a dentist and father of three children. He also coaches basketball at St. Ignatius and our daughter, Lisa, is on his team. His wife is the sister of Leonard Panattoni ('61), who is married, has four children, and is practicing law.

Carl Panattoni ('64) is married and has four children and you may have noticed his tilt up warehouses anywhere from Woodland to Birmingham. Speaking of warehouses, Chuck Sylva ('65) is back at work selling and leasing them. He was on a leave of absence to work on the Loaves and Fishes project. Chuck's brother Bob ('68) has been busy as a Sacramento Bee writer, doing feature stories as diverse as Robert Kennedy, Jr. to Sid Tanner. His articles appear in the Sunday Sacramento Bee Magazine.

Working as a foreman for U.S. Machinery Co., is Manuel Moitoso ('68). His job has taken him to China, Columbia, and Hawaii. He is married and has two children. His wife is Mary Jane Luzzi, whose brother, Fred "Tray" Luzzi ('70) was recently promoted to Northern California Building Maintenance Supervisor, and commutes to San Francisco.

Pat McIntosh ('57) is the Regional Supervisor for Cap Fed Division of San Francisco Savings and Loan, Residential Appraisals. He is married and has four children. I asked Pat to give me some information on some of his fellow alumni and he said that Bob Gatoss ('57) is teaching and coaching in Campbell, and Pat says he is as loud as ever!

If you are ever in Ashland, Oregon and are in need of a real estate agent, look up Pat Henretty ('57).

Tom Parilo ('68) was recently appointed Nevada County Planning Director. He is married and has two children.

Larry Clark ('63) is married and has two children. He works for Employment Development Department. His wife Jo Ann ('64) is a teacher at St. Ignatius.

Working as a Steno III for the County Assessor is Carolyn Ann Renner Ramirez ('62). She has two children and lost her husband in January. My prayers are with you Carolyn, may the Lord guide you and keep you strong to raise your family.

Michael D. Dolcini ('64) is working for P. G. & E., is married, and has two children.

Do you know the way to Ventura (although that is not how the song goes)? Well, if you do, you will find Bartley Bleuel ('59) working as a senior partner in Bleuel, Buford and Muirhead, practicing in the fields of tax, business, estate planning, and probate law. He is married and has two children.

Victor Corsiglia ('59) is the Assistant Branch Chief for NASA Ames Research Center, Moffett Field in Mountain View. He is married, has four children, and lives in Santa Clara. His sister Frances Koscheski ('62) is a registered nurse at the Surgi Center on Scripps Dr. She is married and has three children.

James Cowan ('64) is living in Portola. He retired from the Sacramento Police Department, and is now a teacher and a private investigator. Jim, in order to find out about your alumni directory, contact Harris Publishing Company, Inc., White Plains, New York. If you are not successful, let me know. Also, yes, I am related to Jerry Golsong, he is my brother-in-law.

I received a warm letter from Mona Murphy Redman ('60). She is living in Seattle, Washington. Mona graduated as a registered dental hygienist. She came back to Sacramento to live and she assisted the dentist director at Sacramento City College. They established the first dental hygiene program in the country to have its clinical facility on a military base, which was Mather. She has since moved back to Seattle where she is now married (to a dentist, who else?) and is doing all his accounting and word processing work at home on their computer.

I contacted Chris Corti Mello ('66), who is married and has two children, the youngest a freshman at Christian Brothers. Chris has a licensed day care business in her home and is constantly kept busy. She and her cousin, Joanne Franzoia ('66) helped me gather some local news. Joanne is married to Ralph Compasano ('62), who is the manager for IBM in their central office in San Francisco. They have two children.

Joanne's brother John ('64) is a principal at Royalton High School in Royalton, Minnesota. Now, I think this is romantic. John and his wife Rita (Karmel) Pengilly ('64) dated in high school. After a long period of time they met again in Minnesota and have just recently married. She just received her masters in clinical psychology. They are living in St. Cloud. Congratulations to you both!

Vince Stanich ('62) is a doctor practicing internal medicine in San Diego.

The Editorial Board would like to hear from alumni. Letters that express your ideas, opinions, and suggestions are encouraged and will be considered for publication.

Dear Danny,

By way of introduction, my name is Pat Henretty, a graduate of '57. I haven't been in the Sacramento area since 1971 but follow with great interest the activities of C.B. And a 35 year reunion I look forward to after attending our 30th this past year.

I am writing to you because of a couple of things you referred to in your article in The Connection. [January] I know times have changed and I've been out of the Sacramento scene so I may not have an accurate perception of the C.B. situation. But, the two things that bothered me were your reference to the potential of a co-ed school and the low energy level.

I was fortunate enough to have attended the old Christian Brothers at 21st and Broadway from the 7th grade through my junior year. The memories that I have of those years at school are 95 percent positive, fun-loving, and healthy. Close to once a month I tell people at work or socially or in any encounter that presents itself of those years. They were absolutely great. My favorite story is of our Friday afternoon rallies in the old gym. Those preceded a Friday night football game and all classes would be jammed into the gym. Nothing fancy, not much hoopla, but when Ray Clemons walked out onto that stage we would go wild. Well, Ray would quiet us down and he'd start off speaking slowly and quietly. But by the end we'd be ready to play both Sac Hi and McClatchy on the same night using only nine players with one arm on each of them tied behind their backs. Energy level? I might add that when that old building was torn down I drove through the circular drive and cried.

The new Bishop Armstrong was not the same as the old C.B. There is obviously a difference in dynamics when you add the female population. For some strange reason I was never directly consulted concerning the decision to go co-ed, nor on the decision to go back. Had I been asked about the first decision, being a healthy (though naive) young male I would have been 100 percent for the co-ed move. Had I been asked about the second decision to go back to all guys I would have been 100 percent for that. At that point in my life I had the benefit of hindsight. What a great gift.

Didn't a few years ago the school have a Career Day? Alumni were asked to spend a small amount of time speaking to students who were interested in that particular alumnus' occupation or field. If such were planned I would make it priority #1 to be there to speak about the morals, the heartaches, and the joy associated with the real estate business. If such a day were held, maybe some renewed energy activities could be integrated into the day. Rallies, a basketball game or two, and maybe end it all with Mass.

Maybe you can tell that that school, that form of education means a lot to me and I want to see it continue. I am still in touch with eight or ten graduates from my class and I will do everything that I possibly can to get them to attend a renewal of the C.B. spirit.

Sincerely,
Pat Henretty
