

Of CBS Campus Rush Of Nostalgia

Brothers Have Taught Locally For 88 Years

By Eleanor Doyle

"It's the end of an era" is a lament being sounded again and again throughout the city as strong men with sentimental hearts contemplate the closing of Christian Brothers High School at 21st and Broadway.

Whenever "Brothers' boys" gather, the conversation inevitably turns to the campus shift from CBS to Bishop Armstrong High, which will become a four-year mainstream stronghold this coming September.

Recently, alumni held what was termed a Last Hurrah on the Broadway site to re-new bygone days and establish firm contacts for the compilation of a lively mem-of responsible citizens into the Sacramento community for close to 88 years.

Priest Grads

Seven diocesan priests once were students on the 21st and Broadway campus: Fathers Richard Dwyer, John De Annells, Roy Peters, James Mulligan, Kevin Kennedy, James Church and Russell Terra. Two others, now deceased, were Fathers Ed Farrell and Bill Staley.

Football and basketball stadiums evoke a torrent of memories for all sports-minded CBS men. How many actually know how grid games got their start at 12th and K Streets?

Credit goes to four enterprising fellows—Steve O'Nemembers. "He used to sit on the second story window sill and persuade the Brother he would jump if not allowed to go home. This proved
