Setting Sail into the Sunset

Another day, another test
But this one's different than the rest
The final step across that stage
Four years gone by
A turning page.

The tearful moms and smiling dads
The graduates in blue robes clad.
We'll smile and wave and say goodbye
then soon we leave the nest and fly.

When looking back on high school years
We won't remember petty fears
Of cramming for that science test
Or writing papers under stress.

We'll think about the friendships made
Those memories that never fade.
The times we laughed, and those we cried
Are how our days will be defined.

The Seas of Change
That's what they said
So how should we proceed ahead?
Our course is set.
Prepared are we.
To glide away into the sea.

Our high school days, now come and gone
Are not the sunset, but the dawn.
We sail away into the sun.
So much to do
We've just begun.

Fair winds to you on your new quest.
May life bring nothing but the best.
Goodbye, class of 2009.
Full speed ahead
This is OUR TIME!
