Golf: Jesuit's DRL reign ends

comes along once in a career," says Folsom coach Steve Burgess, who has coached the golf program for 18 years over two stints.

Folsom looks to win its first Sac-Joaquin Section Division I North championship Monday at El Macero Country Club near Davis in a field that includes Delta River League rival and three-time defending champion Jesuit.

Burgess and the Knolls got a hint of what was ahead last season when Folsom started to close the gap with area private school powers Jesuit and Christian Brothers. Folsom shocked Jesuit and Christian Brothers by winning last season's Masters title, the first in school history.

The Bulldogs defeated Jesuit, a team they had not beaten previously, by one stroke and Christian Brothers, the two-time defending champion, by five strokes.

"They were in shock - they were acting like, 'Did we really just lose?'," Brian said of the Jesuit players, many of whom he knows from competing in junior tournaments. "But we were in shock, too. We were thinking, 'Did we really just win?'"

Although Jesuit finished third at the CIF Northern California finals the next week to advance to the state championships while Folsom's season ended with an eighth-place finish, the Bulldogs realized the best was yet to come.

Five of the six starters were con-

Folsom stepped up its performance even though Brian, the league's 2009 No. 2 player (behind Jesuit's John Cahlin, now at New Mexico), struggled earlier in the season.

Brian said a bevy of tournaments he played during the summer, which helped land a golf scholarship to Nevada, took a toll. Statistically, Brian is Folsom's No. 4 player, although he's always a threat to win.

Taylor Knoll and Slak have battled through the season to be Folsom's No. 1, with Slak the leader in stroke average.

Senior D.J. Christensen and sophomore Dalton Theis (both shot team-leading 72s Tuesday) continue to be steady performers, but the big surprise has been senior Alex Morgan, the team's No. 6 player.

He enabled Folsom to tie Pleasant Grove for the top spot in its first league tournament, with a team- and career-best 1-over-par 73 at Wildhawk.

"Last year, we felt we didn't have that margin for error," said Taylor Knoll, a junior who has a scholarship offer to Nevada on the table. "Now, with six guys who can play (the five lowest scores count toward the team total), there isn't as much pressure to shoot well. We can be more free-wheeling."

ing back, and junior standout Joel Slak would be rejoining the team after sitting out his sophomore season.

This year, Folsom has had the clear advantage over a younger Marauders bunch.

The Bulldogs ended Jesuit's three-year reign as Delta River League champion Tuesday at Empire Ranch in Folsom by finishing 18 strokes ahead of the Marauders in a combination of scores from the league's four 18-hole tournaments.

Folsom placed first in three of the four DRL tournaments to land the school's first boys league golf title since 1988.

Folsom defeated Jesuit by a stroke for the 19-team Ty Caplin tournament title March 29 at Elkhorn Country Club in Stockton and finished ahead of the Marauders in their own Father Joe Barry Jr. Masters (March 12-13) at Arndt Hoffman. Folsom took third behind Santa Barbara and Christian Brothers.

NAMES AND NEWS

Yuba City golfers make their mark in conference

Yuba City senior golfers Joe Bauer and John Holloway have known nothing but winning during Tri County Conference play the past four years.

They are members of a Honkers team that has gone a combined 80-0 in league tournaments and dual matches during that span, according to Honkers coach Kent Myers.

Bauer and Holloway also helped Yuba City win Sac-Joaquin Section Division III golf titles in 2008 and 2009. Monday, in blustery conditions, the Honkers finished second to Rodriguez of Fairfield 444-446 in the D-III final at Chardonmay Golf Club in Napa. Taylor Brown led Yuba City with an 86. Bauer, Holloway and Donnie Triphan shot 87s.

The second-place finish qualifies Yuba City for Monday's section Masters Tournament at the Reserve at Spanos Park in Stockton. Qualifying as individuals were El Camino's Thomas Crowther and Mira Loma's Chris Stankievicz.

In other section tournaments played Monday:

■ Led by medalist Joel Slak with a 75, Folsom won the D-I North title with a 404 at El Macero Country Club in El Macero (near Davis). Jesuit placed second with a 416 and Armijo third with a 417 to advance to the Masters.

Pleasant Grove's Cole Zarreky and Michael Grenz, Scott Raber of Davis, and Elk Grove's Eric Nelson and Lance Gormley qualified for the Masters as individuals.

■ Christian Brothers won its third consecutive D-II title with a 398 at Turkey Creek in Lincoln. Del Oro placed second with a 406 and Granite Bay third with a 419 to advance to the Masters. Kit Carson of Christian Brothers and Granite Bay's Brandon Baumgarten tied for first with 76s. Rocklin's Nick Schafer, Ponderosa's Derek Trofimczuk and Corey Pereira qualified as individuals.

■ Capital Christian won the D-VI final with a 448 at Stevinson Ranch in Stevinson. Woodland Christian's Beau Chandon and Nick Maddalena of Faith Christian qualified as individuals.

Christian Brothers senior could be Link to state title

HE HAS OVERCOME A HEREDITARY CONDITION TO LEAD FALCONS' CHARGE

By BILL PATERSON
bpateron@sacbee.com

Jarrett Link's record on the golf course tells his athletic accomplishments, his grade-point average spells out his academic performance, and the scars on his knees only hint at what he has overcome.

Everyone agrees Link, the No. 4 player for the Christian Brothers High School boys golf team, is the leader. He's the only senior among the Falcons' top six. And, with a weighted 4.44 GPA, he was class salutatorian.

At 18, he looks forward to majoring in biomedical engineering at Duke. He can also look back on his medical journey and see how far he has traveled.

Link was born with a hereditary affliction that caused his feet to point nearly backward.

Jarrett Link, the only senior among Christian Brothers' top six, has an 18-hole scoring average of 77 and a weighted 4.44 GPA.

He has had surgeries for nail-patella syndrome, a skeletal abnormality that also can cause his knees to dislocate.

"Jarrett has been a great leader," CBS coach Kirk Purdy said. "You look at this young man, the way he walks and the scars on his knees, and you can't help but root for him."

CBS will join Folsom on Tuesday in the CIF State Boys Golf Championship in Santa Maria, hoping to become the first area team, boys or girls, to win a state golf championship.

That Link can play at all shows his determination and focus. In the seventh grade, all the ligaments in his right knee were cut to improve flexibility.

His right leg was so compromised it was at a 40- to 45-degree angle until that pivotal surgery.

"Walking was a chore," he said. "I couldn't straighten my leg so I was always limping around. It caused back problems. Now, nobody notices unless they see my knee."

His teammates have noticed his recent dramatic play.

He shot a personal-best 7-under-par 65 to win the CIF Northern California individual championship May 24 and help the Falcons qualify for the six-team state final at Santa Maria Country Club.

Link, with a scoring average of 77 for 18 holes this season, birdied six of the first seven holes. He overcame a nearly disastrous tee shot on hole No. 1 midway through the match to finish with seven birdies and 11 pars.

"I just got off to a hot start," Link said. "Two main thoughts were going through my mind: 'How can I keep this going the rest of the day? And, can I keep this going because it's the NorCal championship and on the biggest stage?' I just got in a zone."

CBS needed almost every one of Link's birdies to assure a berth in the second state boys golf championship in school history.

CBS tied for second with Folsom at 366, four shots behind winner Foothill of Pleasanton. The Falcons were awarded second place over Folsom on the back-nine team-score tie-breaker, largely Link's doing.

Despite playing with a lineup of three freshmen, a sophomore, a junior and one senior, CBS finished two strokes in front of Robert Louis Stevenson of Pebble Beach, which failed to qualify for the state final.

Freshman Andrej Bevin, the Falcons' No. 1 player, shot a 69. Sophomore Kit Carson had a 75, freshman Hunter Rappleye a 77 and junior Dylan Fuller an 80.

Southern California has dominated the competition through the years, and Torrey Pines of San Diego is favored after shooting a 3-under 357 to win the Southern California Regional on Thursday.

Purdy is happy because his team, despite a fifth consecutive Sierra Valley Conference title, third consecutive Sacramento Section Division II title and a third-place finish at the section Masters tournament, is a year ahead of schedule.

"I really didn't even see the NorCals coming because we're so young," Purdy said. "Of course, I didn't think Jarrett was going to shoot a 65, either."

Link, who hails from a family of volleyball standouts, is happy because he might get a shot at bragging rights with older sister Nicole, now at Nevada. Nicole Link was a key member of the Falcons' 2006 NorCal D-IV girls volleyball championship team that lost in the state final.

He's happy to be able to play.

"I'll tweak (my knee) every now and then, but I'm used to it because it's been this way my whole life," he said. "I'll complain sometimes if it hurts. But it pretty much is what it is."

CIF STATE BOYS GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Chr. Brothers, Folsom finish fourth, sixth

By BILL PATERSON
bpater@scabc.com

Christian Brothers High School finished fourth and Folsom sixth among the six teams competing in Tuesday's CIF state boys golf championship at Santa Maria Country Club in Southern California.

Christian Brothers finished with a 20-over-par 380 and Folsom shot a 31-over 391.

Santa Barbara, which finished third at Thursday's Southern California regional finals, came in with a winning total of 2-under 358.

Servite of Anaheim took second with a 363, and Southern California champion Torrey Pines of San Diego was third with a 372. Northern California champion Foothill of Pleasanton placed fifth with a 385.

For Christian Brothers, freshmen Andrej Bevins and Hunter Rappleye shot 1-over 73s. Dylan Fuller had a 76, Jarrett Link a 77 and Kit Carson an 81.

For Folsom, Joel Slak and Taylor Knoll, both juniors, shot 74s. D.J. Christensen had a 76, Brian Knoll a 77, and Dalton Theis and Alex Morgan both finished at 90.

Santa Barbara, which finished second to Christian Brothers at the Joe Barry Junior Masters tournament at Ancil Hoffman in March, was led by Jack Perry and Shane Lebow. Both finished with 4-under 68s.

Servite's Patrick Cantlay, who also shot a 68, beat Perry and Lebow in a playoff to win medalist honors.
