

The First Bishops in the United States

In the United States, the first bishops were appointed in the early 1800s. The first bishop of the United States was John Carroll, who was appointed in 1789. He was the first American-born bishop in the world. He was also the first American-born cardinal. He was the first American-born pope. He was the first American-born pope. He was the first American-born pope.

The first bishop in the United States was John Carroll, who was appointed in 1789. He was the first American-born bishop in the world. He was also the first American-born cardinal. He was the first American-born pope. He was the first American-born pope.

