Enhanced Entryway Welcomes Students Back to School

Summer proved the ideal time to expand and enhance CB's entryway. The project establishes a centralized reception area to better serve students, parents and visitors; and allows for greater control in terms of monitoring students and guests.

"The change improves the aesthetics of the school and, most importantly, augments our efforts to provide a safe campus for our students, faculty and staff," explains CB President Lorcan Barnes.

Fortunately, the construction crew was able to preserve the venerated terrazzo inlaid Bishop Armstrong crest that has served as a hallmark to generations of students. Possible locations for future placement are being evaluated.

School Spirit

Local artist and CB parent, Markos Egure, of Wes Kos Images volunteered his time and talent to add some school spirit to the campus. Egure, with a little help from son Vincent '11, painted the east side of the Ron Limeberger '53 Gymnasium with the school name in bold blue and red coloring.

"It is nice for our guests and fans to see our school pride on full display from the fields on the east side of campus," says Jill Bennet, CB athletic director.

Egure's work will soon be on display in the locker rooms, gymnasium, field house and weight room as well with plans underway to add a touch of Falcon pride to each of the facilities.
