

In April, Roger Valine '67 received the Lifetime Achievement Award from the Sacramento State Alumni Association for his many years of dedicated service on the board of directors, the University's executive committee and a number of other community boards and committees. At the May 26 commencement ceremony, the California State University College of Business Administration presented Valine with an Honorary Doctorate in Humane Letters. The honorary doctoral degree recognizes excellence and extraordinary achievement in areas that embody the University's ideas; honors service to the University and the greater community; and recognizes individuals who serve as examples for the University's student body.
