Kelly Safford

Thoughts on Mrs. Safford...

"I have always been impressed by and will miss Mrs. Safford's dedication to her students and to the environment. Mrs. Safford thinks globally but acts locally. Much of our recycling on CB's campus is because of her dedication and leadership with our environmental club."
- Lorie Frias

"Each new student (and new teacher) assigned to room 610 is firmly but gently informed of the strict [plastic water bottle prohibition] (Did you know it takes 3 liters of water to make & fill a 1 liter bottle of water?) Anyone who responds with "it's only one bottle" is directed to the sign "it's just one plastic bottle, said 7 billion people"
-Annette Romani

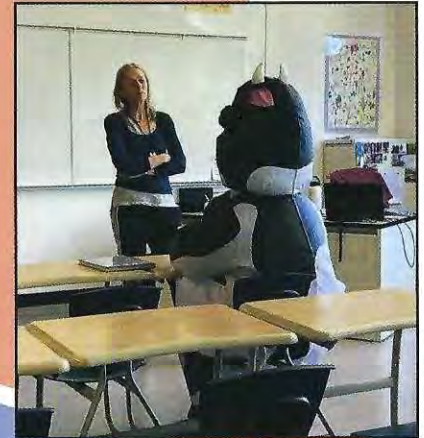

- Mrs. Safford has dedicated 27 years teaching at Christian Brothers in both Math and Science.
- She also is the longtime teacher moderator for both the Environmental and Teatime clubs.
- "My students made my decision to retire difficult, seeing and listening to these young people's passion, creativity, and innovations gives me hope for the future and I am going to miss them greatly."

Mrs. Safford hiking on the John Muir Trail in the Sierra Nevada Mountain Range.

Mrs. Safford and the Environmental club strive to spread not only awareness of the threats we present to our environment but also suggest the best course of action to help the environment.

Thoughts on Mr. Delgado...

"HAPPY FRIDAY (FOREVER) MR. DELGADO!!!!" This is what I yell in his room every Friday and I will miss it almost as much as I will miss working with him. Thank you for all you have done for our community." - Love Brousseau

"[Danny] has been my dean, XC coach, advocate, mentor, colleague, coach, and most importantly my friend for over 35 years. The most important lesson and impact he had on me is to always remember to take care of what and who we value, and we should value everyone" -Larry Reel '91

"During the past 18 years working with Danny, I have learned how important it is to foster relationships and to meet them where they are at" -Dave Levasseur

- Mr. Delgado has been all over CB in multiple roles over 27 years: Dean of Students (89-92, Athletic Director (92-96) JV Football coach (won the JV League Championship), Track coach (SVL League Champs 08), XC coach (03-23, 18 trips to the State), Science Department Chair (4 years), Robotics Program mentor (10 years), Co-creator of CB's Engineering program, Creator of Watershed Biology program.

-Mr. Delgado has also attended and lead multiple retreats, including 6 Kairos Retreats and 7 Venaver trips, having co-created the Yakima trip with Mrs. Jennifer Lystrup.

- He was awarded the Lasallian Educator of the Year in 2005 and Coach of the Year in 2013.

- He has been teaching since taking a long-term substitution assignment in 1987, and has taught 8 different science classes including Frosh PE and Senior Religion.

Danny Delgado '79

"Having lunch with students, laughing, and joking with them. Coaching and teaching them. Praying...traveling with them. Playing sports and doing activities...Watching them succeed at sports, activities, and in life. Meeting new students. All of this has made my life so full. And while I look forward to doing more trail running, working with animals at Front Street, hiking in the Foothills, and kayaking, nothing will ever be better than the life that I was gifted with when teaching found me. I will miss my colleagues and [daily] interactions with them. But, I will especially miss the students deeply."

Adriana Mundo

- Mrs. Mundo has always loved and cared for her students for these 29 years she has taught Spanish at CB and views her relationship between them like a team.
- When Mrs. Mundo first joined the staff she also helped moderate the MAYA Club, the Mexican American Youth Association, and for many years after.
- Over the years she grew close with both Mrs. Tolomeo and Mr. Capogreco and sees them both as siblings
- "My students are my everything. I not only helped them learn Spanish and to be better communicators, but they helped me by teaching me new trends, sharing the news, and overall being sweet and kind people."

Thoughts on Mrs. Mundo...

"Adriana Mundo has been a beloved teacher at CB for the last 29 years. As the person who directly received her Spanish 2 students into my Spanish 3 for years, I can say that they were always excellently prepared. The way students would speak of her, really showed how much of an impact she had on them and how much they loved her. We started working at CB the same year, the fall of 1994. She has always been there for me and for our department and she is like a sister to me. Although I know that we will stay in touch, I will miss her tremendously here on campus. I wish her all the best in retirement. She deserves it!"
- Tomas Capogreco '86

I will miss camaraderie with Mrs. Mundo. We chat mornings, at lunch and after school every day. She is the person with whom I laugh the most, which is a very healthy thing to do. Mrs. Mundo has endless energy and has worked tirelessly every day. She is an energizer bunny and a model for us all. We share linguistic jokes and laugh at times about difficulties that she has in pronouncing certain words in English. I have taught her to pronounce "survey" by saying "Sir Vay" instead of "sorbet."
- Diane Tolomeo

Diane Tolomeo

- Even though Mrs. Tolomeo didn't originally plan on working at a school, she was seemingly drawn to CB after working at her government job for 14 years.
- At the beginning she was very nervous to work at CB but was immediately welcomed onto campus by her fellow World Language teachers. It was then she grew especially close with Mrs. Mundo and Mr. Capogreco. They all see each other as siblings.
- Mrs. Tolomeo has been teaching Spanish and French at CB for 16 years.
- "My students. I've probably taught thousands of students in my time here and I hope to have influenced and helped them to learn faster, to think better, and to analyze learning in its most purest form, especially when it comes to foreign languages. I hope they can use what I've taught them and make a more communicative, diverse world."

Thoughts on Mrs. Tolomeo...

"In 2013 my husband had a heart attack and had to have major surgery. It was a very stressful time. I counted on him to do regular things like going to the bank or putting gas in my car. Well guess what? While my husband was in intensive care my Lucy (my Prius) was almost out of gas and I didn't know how to buy gas. So I asked Diane to help me and she met me after school. So we put my debit card in and Diane told me to take the nozzle out of the machine. I took it out and for some reason lifted the nozzle over my head. Diane freaked out and came running to grab the nozzle out of my hand. But I held on until she realized I wasn't going to start spraying gas all over the station. We both started laughing because we realized how silly we looked."
- Adriana Mundo

"Diane Tolomeo has been an integral part of the World Language department for the last 15 years. Not only has she been a stellar teacher of French and Spanish. Diane puts her all into everything she does and has supported students and faculty in countless ways over the years. She has been an essential part of our community and is a loved and respected member of our Lasallian family. I will miss her a lot and wish her the best in her retirement."
- Tomas Capogreco '86

critical angle called the critical angle. Light that enters at one face is usually totally internally reflected several times without any loss in intensity before exiting from another face in another direction. A small critical angle plus the pronounced refraction because of the unusually low speed of light in diamond produces wide dispersion and a wide array of brilliant colors.

Optical Fibers Optical fibers, sometimes called light pipes, are transparent fibers that pipe light from one place to another. As illustrated in Figure 29.33, they do this by a series of total internal reflections. Optical fibers are useful for getting light to inaccessible places. Mechanic engineers use them to look inside a patient's body. Doctors use them to look inside a patient's body. Scientists use them to look inside a patient's body. Scientists use them to look inside a patient's body.

CONCEPT CHECK: What causes total internal reflection?

Total Internal Reflection in Diamonds The critical angle for a diamond is 24.4° , smaller than in other common substances. This small critical angle means that light inside a diamond is more likely to be totally internally reflected than to escape. All light rays inside a diamond that strike a surface in a diamond are kept inside by total internal reflection.

Light travels slowly in a diamond, but even more slowly in a silicon carbide crystal called carborundum.

Making Our Mark

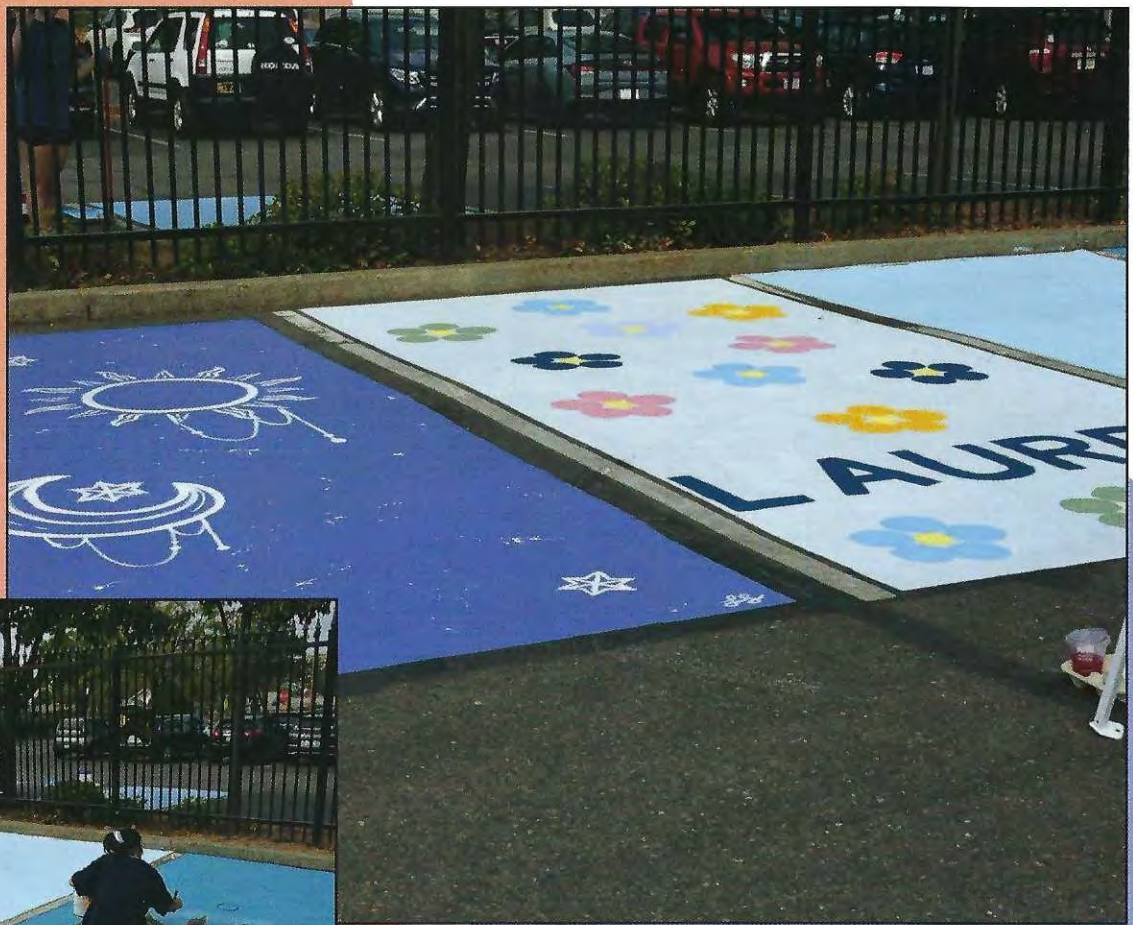

Senior Parking Spots

Our parking spots are an outlet for seniors to get creative and begin a fresh start to the new school year. It allows them to show their school spirit and their personality through their spots. We are proud to acknowledge this tradition at our high school.

Getting Ready!

For measuring a box, how do you compare $\frac{2}{3}$ and $\frac{1}{4}$? Justify your answer.

We learned about measurement systems in Chapter 5. To find the mean of a data set, you sum the data values and divide by the number of data values. You can use measurement to compare how data deviate from the mean.

Essential Understanding Standard deviation is a measure of how far the numbers in a data set deviate from the mean.

Math Background Measures of variation describe how data in a data set are spread out.

Variance is calculated by finding the average squared deviation of each value from the mean of the data. Because this takes all of the data values into account, standard deviation is the positive square root of the variance. It is a measure of spread.

Calculating variance and standard deviation is sometimes difficult for students. Suggest that they write a list and use it for each problem.

Key Concepts Finding Variance and Standard Deviation

- Find the mean, \bar{x} , of the data values in a data set.
- Find the difference, $x - \bar{x}$, between each value x and the mean.
- Square each difference, $(x - \bar{x})^2$.
- Find the average (mean) of these squares. This is the variance.
- Take the square root of the variance. This is the standard deviation.

Big Idea Probability

until they are fully comfortable with the process. For example:

- Find the mean of the data set.
- Find the difference between each data value and the above mean. Write them in a list.
- Find and write down the square of each number on the list.
- Find the mean of the list of squares. This is the variance.
- Take the square root of the variance to calculate the standard deviation.

Mathematical Practices Look for and express regularity in repeated reasoning. In calculating for variance and standard deviation, students will look for general methods and shortcuts. For the many calculations they will have to perform, students will also use a calculator to determine variance and standard deviation of a set of data.

MODEL UN

Model UN attends 2 major annual conferences. Fall is at Stanford and on March 3rd – the 5th CB’s Model United Nations team participated in the Berkeley Model United Nations Conference. The team of 11 students, representing Nigeria and Lebanon, had a very rewarding experience, debating and collaborating with over 2,000 students from all over the world. The following students participated in this year’s conference: Sam George, Iliana Demas, Sara Garcia, Caleb Symkowick-Rose, Lilly Barrett, Sophie Diaz, Ainsley Fong, Olivia Kim, Oscar Reynolds, Shane Schriock, and Adam Sunderman.

The conference organizers recognized the following CB students for their outstanding work in committee:

- Sophomore Caleb Symkowick-Rose and Junior Ainsley Fong, representing Nigeria on the Special Political and Decolonization Committee (SPECPOL), won the Research Award for their work on the topics “Encouraging Green Economic Development in Developing and Postcolonial Nations” and “Addressing Mental Health Problems Induced by War and Civil Strife in Developing and Postcolonial Nations.”
- Freshman Sam George and Junior Lilly Barrett, also representing the delegation of Nigeria, robustly debated and promoted resolutions on their topics “Reforming International Food Aid Systems” and “The Impacts of Alcohol Consumption on Public Health and Society” on the Food and Agricultural Organization (FAO). The head chairs of FAO awarded them a Commendation Award for their outstanding work in committee.
- Representing Nigeria on the World Health Organization (WHO), juniors Sophie Diaz and Shane Schriock, promoted their ideas and working solutions on the topics “The Commercial Determinants of Health and the Private Sector” and “Family Planning and Fertility.” The head chairs of WHO recognized Sophie and Shane for their collaborative work in committee and were also awarded a Commendation Award.

Science Olympiad is a national non-profit organization dedicated to improving the quality of science education, increasing opportunity and diversity in science, creating a technologically-literate workforce and providing recognition for outstanding achievement by both students and teachers. These goals are achieved by participating in Science Olympiad tournaments and non-competitive events, and incorporating Science Olympiad into classroom curriculum. By combining events from all disciplines, Science Olympiad encourages a wide cross-section of students to get involved. Emphasis is placed on active, hands-on group participation. Through Science Olympiad, students, teachers, parents, principals and business leaders bond together and work toward a shared goal. Science Olympiad functions much like a football or soccer team, requiring preparation, commitment, coaching and practice throughout the year.

EXPLORING THE WORLD OF SCIENCE

Science Olympiad leaders Ehlyssa Gonzales, Gracie Diaz, and Annalise Gay play a key role in the classroom and in competition. The leaders are in charge of running the weekly or biweekly meetings. The biggest task of theirs is organizing the teams and figuring out who will compete in which events. With a total of 23 events, Ehlyssa, Gracie, and Annalise make sure that each student is able to compete and show off their best abilities.

We follow Horton, an elephant who discovers a dust speck that contains the Whos, including Jojo, a Who child sent off to military school for thinking too many "thinks." In the story, Horton must protect the Whos from a dangerous, larger world and guard an abandoned egg. Ultimately Horton must triumph over ridicule, danger, kidnapping and a trial using the powers of loyalty, family, and friendship.

The Musical

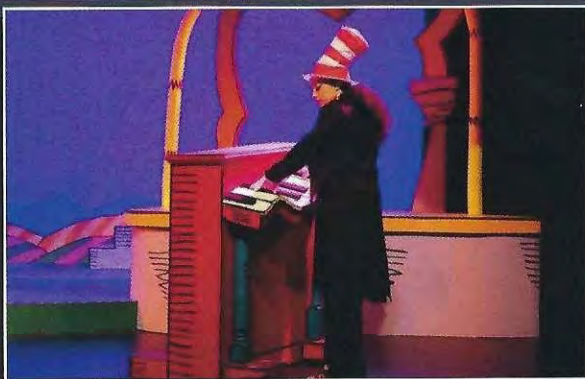

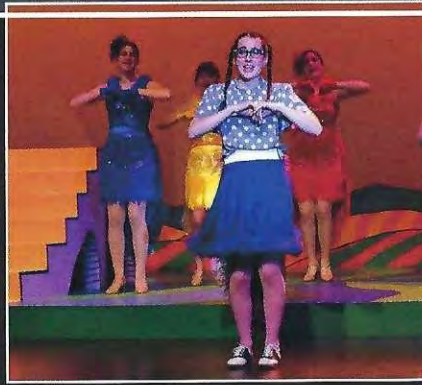

Tanner Meade '23 had a blast partaking in another CB show, playing Horton in the Seussical, saying that he relates to his character's obliviousness and overall silliness. Tanner plans to go to film school to follow his dream of becoming a filmmaker.

Anna Deukmejian '23 states that her favorite part of the show was the first dress rehearsal, saying that the first performance with costumes lights and music is always thrilling. Outside of school, Anna makes music under the name "Anna Duke", and has a new single coming out on Spotify!

Aubriana Lene '23 began acting at the age of five and has been working ever since. She thanks Mr. Jackson, Ms. Christianson for taking her out of her shell and helping her grow into the actress she is today. Aubri is hoping to major in psychology or business management, but never plans to give up on her dream of working in the entertainment industry.

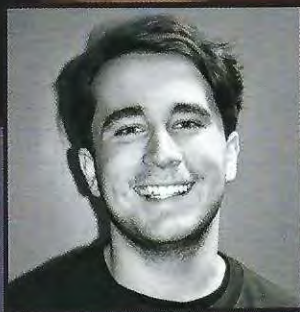

The Importance of Being Earnest

By: Oscar Wilde

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Tycho Fong '23, is taking his final bow as Algernon Moncrieff in his second CB production! "I really love comedy because I love making people laugh!" Tycho shares that one of the behind the scene secrets is that all the food and drink used in this show is edible and real! Along with being the lead, he was also the show cook, making over 48 muffins during the duration of the show! The cast liked eating the leftovers after each show. Tycho hopes to have a career in acting, but wants to major in Chemistry as a career to fall back on!

Abigail VanDePol '23, is taking the stage as Ms. Cecily Cardew in her last production at CB. She explains that there is never a dull moment in a show. "The community on the CB Stage is unlike any other as the people I have met ultimately helped me come out of my shell." Abby says she is unsure where life will take her in this moment. Regardless, she will continue participating in theatre as long as possible. She is hoping to major in Physical Therapy and minor in music therapy at NAU. "Auditioning for my first show remains one of the best decisions I have made!"

Josiah Foster '23, will be taking his final bow as John Worthing. He has been performing since he was 4 years old and made his freshman debut as Ted in Peter and the Starcatcher. When not in theatre, you can catch him in our CB Honors Choral, telling his famous "Dad Jokes" on the Open Mic Stage, or working on Cat Crew at the Sacramento River Cats! Josiah hopes to pursue a career in Journalism but still stay active in performing arts! "TALONS UP!"

Caroline Kramer '23 is Gwendolen Fairfax in this spring show, saying that this was her favorite show by far! A behind the scenes fact is that in between scenes, Caroline and her castmates would take naps on a comfy grey couch backstage. "We probably should have been memorizing lines." Her favorite memory from shows is praying together backstage, "It's a very special moment for all of us." Caroline will be going to college for Broadcast Journalism with a minor in Communications.

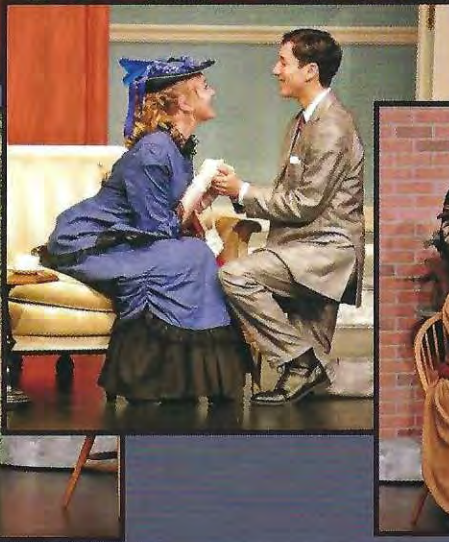

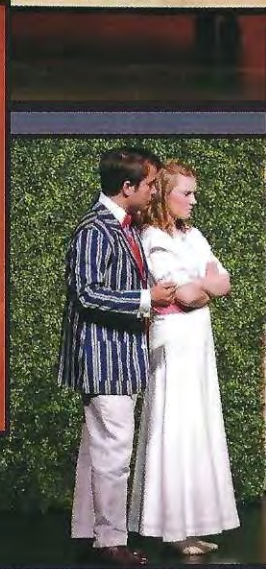

"The Importance of Being Earnest" is a play written by Oscar Wilde in 1895. It is a comedy of manners that satirizes the hypocritical and shallow nature of the upper-class Victorian society.

The play follows the story of two bachelors, Jack Worthing and Algernon Moncrieff, who both lead double lives to escape their social obligations, and try to win over the women of their dreams.

Gwendoline and Cecily have one goal in mind: marry a man with the name of Earnest.

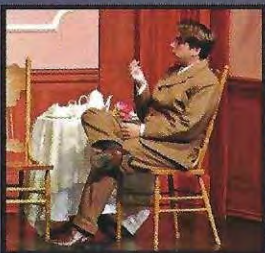

In the end, the deceptions are revealed, and the play ends with the marriages of both couples.

Liturgy

The purpose of CB's liturgies and prayer services is to enable our school to pray as a community and to bring us together in the importance of God. It helps us become more involved with God through prayers, new and traditional, and sharing each other's stories of faith. Father Mike (pictured center) is a frequent celebrant at our masses.

Venaver

Come and See...

Dylan Maokhamphiou-Douangpanya '23 who went on the LA Venaver pictured making food for the homeless says "Venaver gave me an opportunity to see life through a different lens- to become indifferent to a whole new lifestyle. I came out of it enlightened by seeing a different side of the world and brought me closer to others and my vision on changing the world."

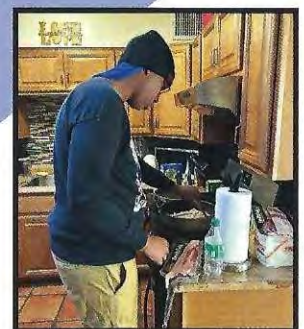

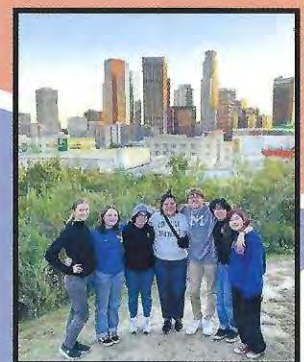

Rosemary Esmeih '24 participated in the Blackfeet trip and loved her time spent there tutoring students. "Venaver was an experience I will never forget. It made me realize the many blessings I have and gave me a new perspective on life. Not only this, but throughout my time I created bonds that will last a lifetime."

Luis Guzman '23, pictured on the far left, enjoyed his experience on the Tucson trip. "Venaver was a great trip. This trip opens your eyes to other parts of the world. It also makes you more open and meet new people in your group."

Taylor Takes

What do you think about the freshman class?

"They seem alright. Definitely not as wild as the senior class."

If you could pick anything from the cafeteria, what would it be?

"You gotta get a triple chocolate chip cookie, a tea, the peach isn't that great but I'll accept it. And pizza has its days."

What do you think of the dress code?

"Honestly I wore dress code in high school and it was stricter than CB's. Our dress code is chill."

What's your favorite color?

"A good blue is nice."

Whats your favorite class?

"I am definitely closer to the senior class because I dealt with you guys as juniors."

Whats your middle name?

"I am not telling you that."

What car do you drive?

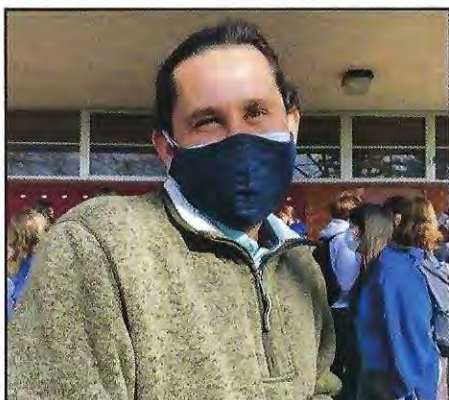

"Jeep Cherokee"

What do you do after school hours?

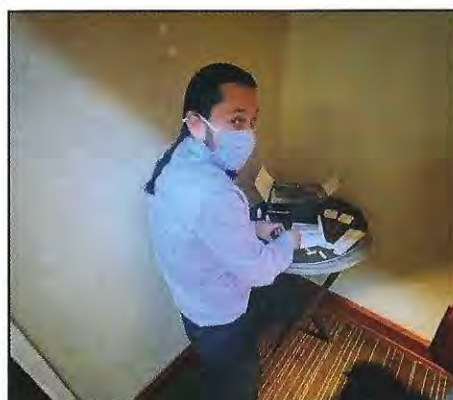

"I usually chill with my 3 year old."

What advice would you give us?

"Something I tell my students is that high school will be over very fast and you don't get it to do it over again. No more homecomings, proms, or high school heartbreaks. Some of you have had a tight knit friend group over the years so it's okay to be afraid and not know what next year is going to be. It's okay to fail. I want people to know that too."

Moments of school pride by the Christian Brothers student section.

Holy Bowl LI

The annual Holy Bowl is not only a Christian Brothers tradition but it is embedded into Sacramento culture. Each year the football teams at both Christian Brothers and Jesuit meet on the field at Hughes Stadium for the iconic showdown. Students at both schools, as well as Saint Francis and Cristo Rey, take the opportunity to come together in friendly competition. Cheers and chants are shouted across the field by both spirit sections. It is the most entertaining and prevalent show of school spirit the two teams will experience all season.

On September 10, 2022, thousands of students, fans, and supporters gathered at Hughes Stadium for the 51st Holy Bowl. As the two teams wrestled for the win, the spirit sections, a sea of blue, opposite a wall of red, competed with cheers and rally cries that shook the stadium. The Christian Brothers student section, led by Falcon Force, cheered loud and proud until the conclusion of the fourth quarter. Even though our Falcons didn't take home the win this year, our school spirit and athletic determination was unprecedented.

FOREVER FALCON

Phillip Bell III '25 recalls Webb being a cool and funny guy, while being straightforward when it was needed. Bell says, "A lot of the times we talked he was straightforward because it was mostly about football, he just told me to keep locking in, keep working, break his [Webb's] records." Bell reminisced Webb's support by saying, "I feel like he helped me on my Oregon recruitment and after I got the offer I was really excited, but he said he already knew I was getting it... Oregon was one of my first Pac-12 offers and the biggest school I got in my early recruitment, so it really hit home." Bell honored him by aiming for 4 touchdowns every game and using the hashtag "#LLS" or "#LL4" (Long Live Spencer, Long Live 4) every time he posted on Instagram. "The first game of the season we played Burbank and I blew 4 kisses at the stands, that was for Spencer." With the new goal in mind, Bell would go on to break Webb's insane, 28 CB career touchdown record, and 1,723 total yards, with 35 total touchdowns and 2,004 total yards in just his freshman and sophomore seasons. Bell remembers his favorite moment with Webb was when he DM'ed him on Instagram while Bell was deciding between CB and a competitor school. Bell recalls, "this was the moment when we locked in because he started calling me all the time, and we started talking a lot and this was when the bond connected." This interaction gave Bell a lifelong role model to look up to and the motivation to persevere through all tough times in life.

Dustin Regino '23 remembers his relationship with Webb being a brotherly bond and says, "We would always hang out on the weekends with my older cousin, Jakey, and we'd just go play football, watch film or go eat. He was a role model to me." Regino recalls his favorite memory of Webb was when they lost the Holy Bowl his senior year because everyone was crying and upset but he gathered everyone up and gave them a pep talk. "He just rallied everyone up and he highlighted how much they fought and how hard they worked, and that's just the type of person he was, he would just find the good in the bad." When asked about wise words Webb lived by, Regino says he would always say, "God has a plan." Losing loved ones is never easy, but sometimes thinking on the bright side helps you move forward. Regino talks about this by stating, "I have a different mindset now that he's gone: 'I get to' and not an 'I got to' mindset, so if the team needs me to do something, I get to do that for them, I don't got to do that for them." This mentality made Regino appreciate the family he has and reminded him to not take anything for granted.

"We meant the world to each other," is the bittersweet way TMP Elite head coach, Terrance Leonard, remembers Spencer Webb. Coach T was Webb's 7 on 7 coach and his father figure. Webb did not have very much family, but he had a very big extended family who became his main support system. Webb was known to be the first to greet you and had nothing but love. "We always talked and hung out, and any time I would take a trip to Oregon, he would make sure we saw each other. He would also be the first to meet players on visits to Eugene." Coach T recalls his favorite memory with Webb was when TMP Elite was in Las Vegas for a tournament and someone was reported for running around the hotel. The description the hotel staff gave led them to believe it was Spencer and he took the fall for his teammates. Years later Spencer confirmed to Coach T it was a teammate, not himself. TMP Elite honored Webb by hosting, "The Spencer Webb Classic", a 7 on 7 tournament. The team wore a special commemorative Spencer Webb jersey this season, and have named their 10U team the "Baby Webbs".

Coach Morla was one of Spencer Webb's football coaches during his 2 years at Christian Brothers High School. Morla explains Webb as, "A 6'6 loving guy that many were probably scared of, but he was a little kid at heart and always messed around and kept a positive energy... He was friends with everyone and loved the game of football." Webb would visit practice everyday he was in town after he graduated to talk to the team and always wanted to give back to the CB community. Webb always said, "Live everyday like it's your last because tomorrow's never promised." Webb was big on living in the now and not taking anything for granted. Junior and senior year, Webb helped lead the football team to section championships. Although we did not win that year, it was our first time making section championships in over 20 years. Webb was one of the top recruits we have had in a long time and was recruited nationally by plenty of Division I colleges. He brought a lot of great exposure to our school and helped put us on the map. Webb achieved a lot while at Christian Brothers, but also achieved a lot at Oregon, where he was known as a "fan favorite." As planned, Coach Morla brought Webb's Oregon jersey to their dedicated win of the league championship. The team honored Webb on the back of their helmets with the #4 and a spider on it, as Webb's nickname was spider.

Sammy(Chach)Franco

Over the years, we have watched in amazement of the wonderful young lady you have become. We couldn't be more proud of you and we know Lili is too. You are a great example of a big sister. Don't ever stop pursuing your dreams. We love you so much and will always be here for you!

BB, through the years we've been able to see you grow, learn and love. We can't wait to see what's next! As you prepare for your future, remember your roots...Pink may be your signature color but you will always bleed blue. We are so proud of you! Lub you, lub you, lub you, oodles and bunches.
