

SENIOR PICNIC

When the greased pig was released at the Brothers College Field day, all available Seniors attacked the porker with but one idea in mind--to see him roasting over a fire. Dave Simmons captured the pig and with his donation of said creature, plans were drawn up for a gala picnic to be held at Putah Creek. The pig was left in charge of Brothers Joseph and Bertram and some prominent Seniors, among them being Pete Marinovich, Bob Williams, Steve Morgan, Frank Quinn, Dave Simmons and Dino Beltrami. The result being death to the pig, and his hanging in cold storage until Sunday, May 24.

✓ Through the courtesy of Mr. James Keating a truck was provided for transportation. With the pig and other foodstuffs packed in a speedy delivery truck owned and driven by Pio Valensin, <sup>they were</sup> ~~it was~~ rushed to the picnic grounds for immediate roasting. The "Roving Seniors" left soon after and under excellent driving soon arrived safe and sound.

An ideal spot was picked for the festivities. Plenty of shade, a delightful pool of water for bathing and plenty of wilderness for privacy. Upon arriving a roll call was made to be sure all were there, as it was feared some might have been lost on the way from the school to the grounds. Among those accounted for were Denny Casson, John Sapunor, Bill Stewart, Bobby Williams, John Plock, Jack Flynn, John Purcell, Frank Quinn, Rafeal Escalon, Ed Keogh, Dave Simmons and Steve Morgan.

✓ The pig was soon on the spit and well on his way to being "well done," (Under the supervision of Mr. Morgan, head chef). While this was going on all Seniors could be seen scurrying behind all available rocks or bushes, bathing suits in hand. The next scene showed the dignified Seniors paddling back and forth in the "brink." Br. <sup>other</sup> Dominic tried his hand at log rolling with little success, while Br. Bertram showed his skill at diving. Br. Joseph showed his adeptness at trapping ~~by catching~~ a herron.

Many boys were seen slipping off a rock and into the water; ~~also one who is not exactly a boy. (Who could that be? Ask Br. Dominic about that).~~

Seniors scattered in all directions to play ball, hike around, swim or just loaf. A football game in the creek was soon turned into a game of water polo, but the results are not yet official. As a special attraction, Bill Diage arrived in his car about 2 o'clock and joined in the fun, although a trifle late

✓ When Mr. Morgan announced that the pig was done "to a turn" it did not take long for the hungry Seniors to arrive. In short time they were eating pork, applesauce, potato salad, bread, cake and "washing it down" with root beer. The pig proved to be first class and the trimmings were made to order. All had enough to eat and were content to lie around and take things easy. As all good things come to an end so did the Seniors have to pack up and head for home. Loading the remaining pig in the truck, the Seniors of the class '36 brought their picnic to a close. All arrived home safe and sound with the only casualties reported being that two members of the class were left in Sacramento because of their arriving too late to go on the outing.

Jack Flynn.***

Handwritten notes:
... 25 June ...
... Mr. Morgan ...
... the ...
... the ...
... The ...
... Trolley ...
... changed ...
... not ...
... all ...
... can ...